

Greetings NCD!

Wow how fast did summer fly by! But fall can only mean one thing...wrapping up field season and attending the AFS Annual Meeting!

I am sure you guys have heard all about it, but what an amazing opportunity this conference is going to be- the American Fisheries Society and The Wildlife Society 2019 Joint Annual Conference is the first time these groups have met together as a whole- most of you remember that at Midwest in January we held a joint meeting with TWS' North Central Division and it was a great experience!

Its getting late, but there is still time to register. Check the website out at <https://afstws2019.org/about/> for more information on registration and lodging. Hotel space was selling out quickly the last time I checked- if you still want to go, but are having trouble finding lodging, please reach out to the NCD via our Facebook page, or work with your Chapter to find someone who may want to room with you and share the costs!

Heather

August |aw gusht| n. The eight month of the year where everyone clings to the heat and attempts one last barbeque.

September |sep tem bur| n. A month that falls later in the year. Often looked down upon by children as it's the month in which school usually begins.

